Presenting: An Executive Functioning Skills in Children: Building Attention, Self-Control and Memory to Propel Learning

Often children and teens with sensory needs continue to struggle with impulse control, behavioral regulation, and self-control even after sensory plans have been put into place.

This Course will address:

- ◆ How sensory and Executive Function (EF) skills work together
- ◆ How to address both sensory and Executive Function (EF) skills
- ◆ Discerning whether sensory or Executive Function (EF) skills is the primary challenge area
